

Tasty & Comfort – Customer Privacy Policy

Effective Date: July 2026

At Tasty & Comfort, we respect your privacy. We do not collect, store, sell, or share your personal information.

Our website and AI assistant are provided only to help you with menu information, store details, and general assistance. Please do not share sensitive personal information such as your address, phone number, financial details, or identification documents.

We improve our services through customer feedback and internal research, not by tracking personal data.

This privacy policy may be updated from time to time. Any changes will be published on this page.
